NORTH WILKESBORO BURNS

Work of the Flames in the Mountain Town

ALMOST WIPED OFF THE EARTH

With a Little Wind the Town Would Have Been Entirely Destroyed.

The "Hustler" Office Burned.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

North Wilkesboro, N. C., Jan. 3—Fire originated about 7:30 o'clock last night in the furniture department of Stafford Bros. store. It spread with great rapidity before help arrived and soon the entire building was

ENVELOPED IN FLAMES.

The store of A. M. McGee was the next to catch and was entirely consumed. Then Policeman Vickers' residence caught and was burned to ashes. The large wholesale house of L. A. Jarvis caught several times but the flames were extinguished by heroic work. The building of the Bank of North Wilkesboro

BARELY ESCAPED.

Most of the property was covered by insurance and the losses are as follows:

Stafford Bros. store and goods about $6,000, insurance $4,800. The North Wilkesboro Hustler office was also in this building and was totally destroyed, the loss being $700 with no insurance.

THE K. OF P. HALL

and J. N. Hickerson's law office were also located in it. Neither was insured, but the losses are small, the K. of P. being $175, and that of Hickerson about $350. W. G. Upchurch had several sewing machines stored and his loss is $125.

M'GEE'S LOSS

is about $4,000, with $1,500 insurance. He saved some of his goods.

Vickers' loss is about $100. The damage to the telephone company is about $75, and to the bank $25. The damage to L. A. Jarvis' store and goods is about $1,500, fully covered by insurance.

THE ENTIRE LOSS

is about $14,000. The Hustler will be started again as soon as a new outfit can be ordered.

J. R. Coffey, Gordon Jarvis and L. N. Hickerson narrowly escaped with their lives and were

SEVERAL TIMES SINGED.

They were in Hickerson's office trying to get out some books when the flames broke through.

The night was still which prevented the fire from spreading, otherwise the conflagration would have done much more damage.

Growth of the South in Wealth.

The value of the assessed property in the South today is just double what it was before the war, when the negroes were included as property.

Taking the South as a whole, the increase has been greater where industries have been diversified and intensified. Mississippi is joined to her old idol, King Cotton—hence that State which, comparatively, was one of the wealthiest before the war, is now one of the poorest—at least one of the least progressive as far as material progress goes. North Carolina, one of the poorest, or rather one of the slowest, in ante-bellum days, is now become one of the wealthiest. Within a few years the old North State has built 180 cotton factories and 240 tobacco factories. Her old, worn-out sedge fields, with 93 per cent. of silicious matter, produce the fine yellow leaf tobacco in abundance. The building of railroads has been one of the most important factors in this unexampled development of wealth.—Nashville Banner.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—John McNulta has been appointed receiver of the Bank of Illinois to succeed John C. McKeen.

NOT THE SHOOTER.

He Expects to Make the Journal Pay for the Charge.

The reports today say that Joe Jackson, who was shot by John Duckworth at High Point last week, is improving and will get well. The man who did the shooting has not yet been arrested, having so far successfully eluded the officers.

But this is not all of the story. Matt Hanney was here this morning going to Winston to see the proprietors of The Journal in regard to a statement in that paper charging him with being the shooter. Mr. Hanney showed us the paper, and seemed to be greatly worked up over the matter. There was fire in his eye, and he exclaimed: "The Journal must pay me heavy damages."

We suggested that possibly The Journal was not to blame, that the report was sent to them that way. He refused to believe this and jamming the paper down in his overcoat pocket said: "I'll have damages."

From that we take it that he will accept no apology from The Journal. An announcement that the statement was an error will not satisfy Mr. Hanney. He must have pay for the slander. The Journal is alone to blame, and when he gets through with them their bank account will have decreased and Mr. Hanney will walk away with a satisfied smile and a nice fat roll of greenbacks in his inside pocket.

Enough of the coin of the realm, commonly known as filthy lucre, will wipe away the blood spots which now obscure the silvery face of the moon. Then all will be well, and those who desire to plant Early Rose potatoes, Silver Skin onions and such truck, in the moon, can begin to prepare their seed.

"Let Them All Come."

If the arrangements for railroad rates is made for our neighboring towns to come and see "Pudden'head Wilson" at the Academy next Thursday night, our people had better get seats, as this being the only stop in the State for this splendid company. You may expect a top heavy house and all of our people should try to see "Pudd'nhead Wilson" by Joe Jefferson's Co. Admission has been put at 50c 75c and $1.00, children 25c in gallery-seats now on sale at Gardners.

Salisbury's Mistake.

Lord Salisbury may imagine he is gratifying Canada by placing the wishes of the Dominion seal poachers above considerations of international policy, refusing to act contrary to their demands. But he loses far more than he can gain by such a course. Alienation of the friendship of the American people will be a worse thing for Great Britain than the disappointment of a few Canadian seal fishermen. As matters are shaping themselves in the East, Great Britain is likely to need the moral support of all whom she can draw to her side; and in such a case the United States counts for a great deal more than Canada.—From the Boston Post.

Public Library Movement.

The plans for the organization of the public library company as noted in these columns some weeks ago are being printed and it is the purpose of the committee to begin the work of soliciting membership at once.

The plan as outlined is an excellent one, requiring small outlay on the part of each member and yet will secure for the city a first-class library. There ought to be little difficulty in securing the requisite amount of subscription.

HANNA HOWLERS ARE BLUE

The Air is Warm With Sulphurous Charges

OF BRIBERY, TREACHERY, ETC.

Kurtz People Say They Are Gaining and Mason Says Hanna is Beaten.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 3.—Senator Hanna's followers in the State are in a panic; although they continue to claim his election they are very despondent. The air is hot with charges of wholesale attempts at bribery and treachery. The anti-Hanna people make charges and claim that they can prove what they assert. They promise sensational developments. The Kurtz supporters claim that two members on whom Hanna counts will desert him at the proper time. Mason, the anti-Hanna candidate for Speaker of the House, said this morning that he can not be defeated for that position. Hanna's followers are making a desperate struggle and charge the opposition with bribery.

MASON ELECTED.

Columbus, 2 p. m.—The Ohio legislature convened this morning at ten o'clock. Owing to the Senatorial contest unusual interest is being taken in the organization of both houses. The centest in the house was between Mason, the anti-Hanna and Boxwell the Hanna candidate. The first ballot resulted: Boxwell fifty-three, Mason, fifty-six. Mason was declared elected.

SIATUTION IN THE SENATE.

The republican senate caucus nominated Senator Alexander for president pro tem. In the absence of Senator Burke, of Cleveland, who is opposed to Hanna, it meant the election of democratic officers of the senate. Lieutenant-Governor Jones, who has the deciding vote, is also opposed to Hanna. The arrival of Brice started the report that the gold standard democrats, with the republicans, will elect him.

A STAY FOR THORN.

Gieldsensuppe's Murderer Will Not Be Put to Death on Jan. 10.

Lawyer William F. Howe got for Martin Thorn, the convicted murderer of William Gieldsensuppe, yesterday a stay of proceedings on his execution, which was set for the week beginning Jan. 10.

Mr. Howe filed with the District Attorney and the County Clerk of Queens county a notice of appeal from Thorn's conviction, and obtained a certificate of stay, which he despatched by special messenger to the Warden of the State prison at Sing Sing. The messenger saw Thorn in the prisoner's cell in murderers' row, and informed him of what Mr. Howe had done in his behalf.—New York Sun.

NACK CASE POSTPONED.

To Give Time for the Judge to Investigate.

By wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Jan. 3.—Mrs. Nack's trial has been indefinitely postponed to allow Justice Garrettson, of the Supreme Court, who is sitting for the January term of Queens county court, to investigate all the previous statements in the case.

An Out of Season Victim.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

Maysville, Col., Jan. 3—Clide Maudville, a member of the Wheatland football team, who was injured in a scrimmage last Saturday, died this morning as a result of his injuries.

TRAMP WITH ONE SHOE.

He Was Sleeping Off His Inebriation When He Was Arrested.

Officer Jeffries ran across a tramp Saturday, a big, strapping fellow, large enough and stout enough to do any kind of manual labor, quietly sleeping between Mr. Thos. Woodroffe's residence and the Southern railroad. He had only one shoe and was lying on the bare ground and used an overcoat as covering.

The weather was cold and getting colder and the officer pulled the tramp, who gave his name as Joe Malloy, and put him in the calaboose. There he was kept until yesterday, when a colored man from Haw River came up and reported that he had been robbed of a suit of clothes by a tramp.

Diligent search revealed the fact that Alfred Graves had bought a pair of pants from a tramp for fifty cents, and that George Taylor had bought a coat and vest for $1.50. These goods were identified as being the goods which were stolen from Joe McClouie, the Haw River man. The men who bought the clothes were then carried to the lockup and told to identify the man from whom they purchased these goods. They were carried in separately and readily and without hesitation pointed to the tramp arrested for drunkenness.

Joe McClouie returned to Alamance to get the proper papers and an officer, and Mr. Malloy, the gentleman of leisure, who tramps for a livelihood and steals clothes from a negro to raise money for drinks, will be carried down to our neighbor county to stand trial.

He had in his pocket a key which McClouie says will unlock his door, and a button hook bent and scarred, showing that it has been used to pick locks.

THE CAMDEN MURDERER

Is Arraigned to Be Tried for His Life Today.

SWEETHEART STANDS BY HIM.

French Liner Comes In—Mrs. Clay Will See Her Husband—Is Li in the Saddle?

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 3.—A large crowd of men and women presented themselves at the door of the court house this morning to witness the trial of Eli Shaw, charged with the murder of his mother and grandmother last fall. The trial has excited unusual interest. When Shaw appeared in the court room he was a physical wreck. He stoutly pleaded "not guilty." May Belle Neilson, his sweetheart, will take the stand in his favor. She is supplying funds for his defence.

BRITISH GUNBOATS RECONNOITRE

Dervishes Fire from Both Banks of the River.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM

Cairo, Jan. 3—The British gunboats made a reconnoizance at Post Shendy and Metenmeh. Dervish boats were between Berher and Khartann on last Saturday. The Dervishes kept up a smart fire from both banks of the Nile.

The gunboats proceeded 20 miles south and captured a number of boats laden with grain.

Why the British Troops Move.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Jan. 3—It is semi-officially announced that the movement of British troops in Egypt is due entirely to the news of the threatened northerly advance of the Dervishes. It is said the movement does not imply an immediate advance in the direction of Khartoum.

The Esterhazy Trial.

KNOCKED DOWN IN COURT.

A Woman Slaps an Attorney's Face, and Her Husband Finishes the Job.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Kate Kane Rossi, who for years has been a conspicuous figure about the local courts, slapped Attorney F. L. Brady in the face this morning in Justice Martin's court, and her husband knocked him down. They were arrested later in the Harrison Street Police Court on a charge of assault.

Brady and Mrs. Rossi were crowding about the court sheets and became involved in an altercation. Mrs. Rossi said that Brady insulted her and she slapped his face. Her husband, Vincenzo Rossi, went to her assistance. Bail officers separated the fighters.

MONDAY, JAN. 3, 1898.

You can get the telegraphic news twelve hours earlier in THE TELEGRAM than in any paper that gets into Greensboro, and for four dollars a year less.

The latest information from the east is that the British fleet is still firmly anchored.

The only trouble General Blanco is having with Cuban autonomy is in getting it to automate.

The unexpected demand for cotton in the orient may be wholly due to China's preparing to bandage itself.

It is hard to see how congress can find time to meddle in Cuban or Chinese affairs with the civil service still on its hands.

The cynical gentleman who insinuates that patriotism does not pay will please pause long enough to glimpse at the pension appropriation.

Bismarck recently kicked because the papers reported his health improving. Now they report him dead. The latter version should be highly pleasing to the ferric ex-chancellor.

And so Mr. Marion Butler is reported to be home from Washington looking after the interests of his newspaper. A grave injustice is being done the Senator. He is looking after the people's interests and yanking up conspiracies as usual.

A team of horses ran over and trampled upon one of the bands in the New Year procession in New York. If the tootings it emitted were on the order of those supplied by some bands the horse has a firmer right to be classed among the more intelligent animals.

The Booths and the Tuckers and the Booth-Tuckers and the Tucker-Booths and the Bucker-Tooths and the Tooth-Buckers of salvation army proclivities should either have the decency to keep their family rows to themselves or pack themselves out of the country, brass horns, bass drums, salvation, cockney vulgarity and all. A long suffering people is tired of the Tooth-Buckers and Bucker-Tooths and could even sleep with no salvation army to guard it.

That Mr. Hanna will be defeated for the senatorship in Ohio is very improbable, but the determined effort to defeat him by his own party is a credit to the party and a justification of the charges that his politcial opponents have made against him. The defeat of Mr. Hanna would be the most wholesome and salutary lesson that has been given to the citizen in a quarter of a century. It would, in a sense, redeem American politics from the charge of being wholly and purely mercenary. There are men in the republican party in Ohio who could rep resent that state creditably in the sen ate; men with recommendations other than bank accounts; men of whom the citizen regardless of party would not feel ashamed. The democrats should unite with the respectable republicans who have had the manhood to repudiate Mr. Hanna's yoke and elect some such man. The situation is fraught with possibilities of national humiliation, national disgrace. May the bitter cup of Mark Hanna pass from Ohio, from the whole country.

General Blanco is tampering with the tobacco trade again. It seems to be the purpose of each successive commander to make the insurgents smoke and keep everybody else from smoking.

Another filibustering expedition has slipped off to Cuba and the result will soon be apparent in a new set of vocalizations from General Weyler and a holiday volume of diplomatic correspondence.

One of the most marked phases of the European muddle over the Chinese question has been the subsidence of the weekly bulletins announcing the near approach of the death of His Holiness, the Pope.

The fact that on the night of consolidation the Brooklyn trolley fitted several victims with choice wings, may be taken as an indication that Brooklyn will not loose its individuality by being merged in Greater New York.

JAPAN'S INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY.

Shipments of Cotton so Heavy as to Crowd Out Flour.

San Francisco, Jan. 1.—The industrial activity of Japan is illustrated by the demand for steamer space on the ships of the Pacific Mail and Oriental & Occidental Steamship Companies. There is now so much cotton from Texas in San Francisco awaiting shipment for the Orient, that heavy shipments of flour destined for the same market cannot find steamer space. The quantity of cotton at present in the warehouses and in cars, on this side and across the bay, amounts to 14,000 bales. R. H. Schwerin, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, says it is a fact that flour shipments have been delayed by reason of the demand for space to carry cotton, but he fancies that the delay is only temporary. His recent visit to the Orient and the observations he made there convinced him that Shanghai was taking the lead in manufacture of cotton goods.

The Blessing of Cheap Books.

Our book stores are fairly inundated with cheap editions of Scott, Dickens, George Eliot, Hugo, Cooper, Thackeray, Hawthorne and other great novelists. Nor are philosophy, theology, criticism and biography denied to the many. Prescott, Morley, Emerson, Ruskin, Macauley, Lamb, DeQuincy and other intellectual lights are becoming the companions of men of limited means and educational opportunities. The greatest pleasure of life, that of intimacy with the world's noblest and most elevating thought, is now accessible to most of those who possess the elementary training supplied by the public schools.

This means a revolution in the popular taste. It means a decline of literary trash and sensationalism, a growing demand for all that is enduring and wholesome and profitable in letters. The revolution is due to two things—the expiration of copyright on the classics and the improvements in the printer's art. These improvements were at first regretted by the short-sighted, but never was a temporary hardship to some overbalanced so quickly, signally and overwhelmingly by benefits to every side of human nature. Who can estimate the benefit flowing from the diffusion of knowledge, the popularization of the higher forms of literary art? When good books are so cheap, the multiplication of sickly, grewsome, ephemeral and vicious "literature" need not inspire much apprehenston. An effective antidote is provided.—From the Chicago Record.

TWO PULLERS-IN SHOT.

A Man Refused to be Pulled into a St. Louis Clothing Store.

St. Louis, Jan. 1.—William P. Smith, who wears long hair and a Texas hat, shot two pullers-in at a Morgan street second-hand clothing store this morning. Victor Goldstein is badly wounded, but the bullet that entered Morris Mahler's shoulder ranged down into his arm. The two were trying to pull Smith into the stores of their respective employers. In the struggle oaths were exchanged, and Smith whipped out his revolver, emptying the five chambers. Then Goldstein knocked Smith down, sinking to the earth himself a moment later. A mob of Morgan street clothiers and their employees caught Smith, but he was recued by two policemen.

Sol Weill Gets Left.

Solomon C. Weill, a former North Carolinian reported elected to the New York Assembly on the Tammany ticket has been knocked out by the Supreme court of that state which declares that his election was illegal and has ordered that his opponent Perez M. Stewart be seated. Only one Justice dissented from that opinion.

1897 A YEAR OF PROSPERITY.

The Percentage of Business Failures Shows a Material Increase.

According to Bradstreet's, the total number of business failures during 1897, including bank failures, was 13,099. This, according to the same authority, was a decrease of more than 2,000, or 13.3 per cent., over 1896. The comparison is also made with the panic year, 1893, and with 1891, a year when business was generally very prosperous. By comparison with 1893, the failures this year were less by 15 per cent. and with 1891 by 2.3 per cent. The statement is also made that the liabilities of the firms that failed this year were less than they have been in four years.—New York Sun.

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, whooping cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

The Atlanta, Ga., Journal

DAILY AND WEEKLY.

Daily $5 a Year—Weekly 50 Cents a year.

The Weekly Journal is a large paper, containing ten pages of seven columns each.

It is filled with the Latest News of the day, both domestic and foreign. Owning its own leased telegraphic wires, which are used for no other purpose but to bring the latest news to its editorial rooms, The Journal is prepared to get all the news up to the latest moment.

In addition to the news, it contains more special features than any other southern weekly. Among other things it has a weekly letter or sermon from Rev. Sam Jones, a contribution from Hon. John Temple Graves, letters of travel, biographies of distinguished men, and many other attractive features.

The Weekly Journal is beautifully illustrated by its own artist. In fact neither energy nor money is spared to make it the Great Southern Weekly:

CALENDAR FREE.

And the price is only Fifty Cents a Year. To every subscriber sending fifty cents for a year's subscription and a two-cent postage stamp extra (to pay postage) a beautiful lithographed calendar for 1898 will be sent free. Specimen copies free.

THE MOUNTAIN MAID.

She Had a Natural Anxiety, Which She Made Manifest.

As my horse, puffing like a porpoise, drew me and my buckboard up the last sharp acclivity of the mountain road that led out into the pass between the summits rising on either hand he would have exercised his privilege and stopped a moment to blow, but 100 yards ahead of us I saw a bright bit of calico gleaming in the morning sun, and, driving on, I came up to a buxom mountain maid sitting on a stump at a point where a footpath leading up from the valley met the main road.

"Good mornin," she said before I had a chance to stop, and there seemed to be an anxious tone in the voice.

"Good morning," I responded, and I was on the point of asking her how far it was to the next place, a favorite manner of starting a conversation on mountain roads, when she broke in.

"Air you a preacher?" she asked.

"No," I answered, with a smile, for I had never been asked that question before.

"Nor a squire?"

"No."

"Well, Jim Martin's comin along this away purty soon now, an I wus jis' axin so's thar wouldn't be no mistakes."

"I don't quite understand your explanation," I said, completely in the dark as to what she was trying to get at.

"I reckon not, but I ain't takin no chances, an I thought I'd better stop you while I had the chance."

"Thank you, I'm sure, but if you will tell me what's up I may be able to know what you are talking about."

She laughed good naturedly.

"Well, you see it's this a-way," she said. "Jim, he's been a-courtin an a-sparkin round me fer about two ye'r now, an last night he popped an says ez how ef I'd be here this mornin ez he come along we'd go down to Logville an git hitched, an Jim's mighty unreliable, an like's not ef we got thar an the preacher ner the squire warn't thar I'd never git Jim in the mind ag'in, so I kinder thought mebbe you might be the squire er the preacher an I didn't want you to git away. Ef you meet Jim anywheres down the road, don't tell him you seen me, fer I don't want him skeert."—Washington Star.

ABOUT THE WEATHER.

Mr. Wingleby Explains to Georgie About the Seasons.

"You see, Georgie," said Mr. Wingleby, whose youthful son had asked him how we came to have different kinds of weather, "the weather is put up in tin cans, a day's weather to a can, and usually they put up about a year's supply ahead, enough to last through a spring, summer, autumn and winter. In filling the cans they sort it all out as well as possible. Sometimes when they get a can full there may be a little left over, and whatever remains in this way they throw into one lot. When they've got pretty nearly all the cans full and the regular stock of weather has run out, they fill up from that lot of odds and ends. The cans so filled contain what is called variable weather, because it's mixed, but most of the weather they get pretty well sorted out according to the season.

"When they've got all the cans filled, they stack 'em up where they'll be handy to get at, and there's a man that does nothing but open them. Every day he cuts a can and pours out the weather for that day, and of course a great deal depends upon him. Sometimes this man gets careless and pulls down a lot of the wrong cans, getting them, say, from the July shelf in the month of April and likely as not getting down a week's supply at once, so as to have them handy on the opening table. Of course he discovers his mistake the first can he opens, but he is too lazy to put the rest back, and so he keeps on then until he has opened them all, and that's how it comes about, as it sometimes does, that we get a hot spell at a season when we ought to have nothing but cool weather.

"But of course those April cans are not lost. They must be around somewhere, and we get 'em later. Maybe the man will sprinkle them along with the hope that we won't notice them much, but as likely as not he opens them one after another together, maybe after some terribly hot spell in July or August, when they are sure to be a blessed relief, and if he does this we are pretty apt to forgive him his mistake in April."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Clever Man.

It is said of a contributor to some of the comic papers of the day that his wit shines more brightly in his speech than in his "copy."

"What a clever man that Tompkins is," he said lately to an acquaintance, referring to a well dressed, ordinary looking man who had just passed him with a bow.

"Clever!" echoed the other. "Why, I never heard of his saying or doing anything!"

"That's just it," returned the writer gravely. "Think of his being able to live without saying or doing anything. I couldn't."—Youth's Companion.

Its Usefulness.

Mrs. Newlywed—That is our new burglar alarm. You see, if a burglar should get into the lower part of the house, that would ring.

Her Mother—Oh, and scare him off?

Mrs. Newlywed (doubtfully)—Well, it might, but it would give Clarence and me plenty of time to hide in the attic anyway.—Pick Me Up.

Whistling is tabooed in the dressing rooms of a circus. That it is an ill omen is one of the superstitions of the circus people. Somebody is sure to be discharged if any one whistles, they say.

Emancipation Celebration.

Reported for the Telegram.

The following is apart of the emancipation celebration program rendered in the court house here Saturday, January 1st:

Music by the Star cornet band.
Music by the choir.
Prayer by Rev. S. S. Henderson.
Music by Star cornet band—"The Red, White and Blue."
Music by the Choir—"Peace, Good Will Toward Man."

W. E. Holly, president of both the Emancipation and Industrial fair came forward and said:

Ladies and gentlemen:—I have sincerely attempted, regardless of the cost or labor to me, to represent to the community what you people are doing along the line of industry, and the white people of our city have done as much to aid this step as I could have expected, and with others connected with this emancipation celebration, the Guilford County Industrial Fair as a means of its establishment and I hope that you and our posterity will see that the fair be held every year, during the latter part of September or the first of October.

Now, as president of this occasion, you are looking forward to me for an address and my address shall be in the following words:

Lift up, look up and remember at all things come to use through God, the Father.

The president then introduced the orator of the day, Prof. Charles H. Moore. Among other things the speaker said:

I'm proud of the better element of our Greensboro white people and our colored people, for I do not believe that our people would be guilty of such an act as that of the recent municipal election of Augusta, Ga. Applause.

Speaking then of some of the conditions of his race, the speaker said:

While this is true, it is also true that our people are largely the victims of their own sins and follies. To be plain in my remarks to you today, I name as one of the serious obstacles of our progress, our political subserviency. Too many of us are political slaves instead of patriots and humanitarians. When any question arises touching the organization of a movement having for its object the advancement of political rights of the race; too many of us are inclined to consult our political masters as to whether we should join it or not, and we are too apt to consult the political effect of such a course upon our future. We want to know too often whether such a course will enhance or retard our appointment to a position as porter or spittoon cleaner in the government service before we take our stand. (Applause and cheers "you are right.") His speech was lengthy and pointed all the way through. The court house was too small to hold the people.

Doubtless You have heard the story of the little Old Log Cabin by the stream and of Rosa Lee the loveliest flower that ever bloomed near this humble little home.

While history does not give it as positive that this bag was patterned after the indentical little cabin in the story, still there is a bare possibility that such was the case.

This Cabin Bag is made of heavy cow hide leather, steel frame, leather lined, brass lock and end catches, in Brown or Olive Colored Leather. Sizes 12 to 18 inches.

SPECIAL TERM OF COURT.

Some Important Cases to Come up Today.

A special term of court to try civil cases exclusively convened this morning at 10 o'clock, with Judge W. S. O'Brien Robinson in the the chair. The term will continue for two weeks and probably three, if Judge Robinson can remain so long.

Judgment was taken in two cases against ex-Sheriff Cook and the case of Causey vs. Empire Plaid Mills came up, but went over, as the attorney had not arrived from Atlanta.

The other cases not being ready, court adjourned until 2 p. m.

Some important cases come up for trial during this term. The docket is very much crowded and the bar will endeavor to have as many cases as possible disposed of.

A DELIGHTFUL AT HOME.

Col. and Mrs. Leftwich Entertained on Saturday Night.

The handsome and hospitable home of Col. and Mrs. A. H. Leftwich, on Church street, was filled with guests on Saturday night from 7 to 12 o'clock. There was music, dancing and refreshments. The latter were especially dainty and well served. The occasion was a most enjoyable one and will be long remembered by those present. Among the guests were the following:

Misses Staples, Dick, Green, Fry, Schenck, King, Sara DeButts, Pearl and Lizzie Balsley, Floreda and Julia Settle, Lizzie and Annie Leftwich.

The gentlemen present were: Cunningham, Kase, Horry, Lindheim, Cal. and Will McAdoo, John, Simpson and Michael Schenck, DeButts, Hagan, Scales, W. G. and Hal. Mebane, Horney, R. D. and Stephen A. Douglas, Berger, Fariss, White, Fred Cone, Michaux and Gray.

Jefferson & Mayo.

On Thursday next there will be presented upon our local play board for the first time in this city Frank Mayo's dramatization of Mark Twain's quaint and humorous work Pudd'nhead Wilson, with that eminent Southern character actor Theodore Hamilton in the title role. Of "Pudd'nhead Wilson" the Metropolitan press have written the highest ecomiums comparing it to "Shore Acres," and "The Old Homestead," stating that it is an idyl of the South where they are an epitome of New England life. There is said to be much heart interest in "Pudd'nhead Wilson" and a quaint and quiet humor that permeates its entire being; comedy and pathos being said to so richly blend, laughter chasing away tears so rapidly that the beholder often wonders why his eyes are moist. Mr. Hamilton will play Pudd'nhead, a role for which nature seems to have eminently fitted him. his interpretation of the quaint kind hearted Missourian is said to reach right into the inmost tendrils of your heart and hold you in sympathetic touch with his life's work—that of righting a great wrong. Mr. Hamilton will have as an able second, Mr. Joseph Jefferson, Jr., (son of the greatest comedian of this age) and other actors of note.

Donkey Party.

At the donkey party at the Benbow on Saturday night J. B. Gill won the prize, a box of candy, and T. N. Winslow the booby, a doll. The contest created much merriment among the participants and the results were decidedly ludicrous.

German Tonight.

The Crocail Club will give the last dance of the holiday season at Bogart Hall this evening. Participants are requested to note that dancing will begin promptly at 9:30.

With the mercury hanging from the freezing point down to thirteen degrees above zero, it is a good time to look after the poor and destitute people in and about the city. The poor are with us always, and now is the time to remember this fact.

As the vestibule pulled out Saturday night eight or ten tramps who were standing along the South Elm crossing, jumped aboard the baggage cars and left town. An unusually large number of the "profesh" have been hanging around Greensboro the last few days.

The deaf mute, Celia Lindsey, colored, who slipped and fell on the frozen ground a few nights ago and staid out all night being unable to get up or give an alarm, died yesterday. She was about fifty years old, and had lived in the family of Mrs. J. A. Gilmer, with the exception of a short time, all her life.

Officer Pearce deserves much credit for supplying those destitute people mentioned in The Telegram Saturday, with comforts and necessaries of life. In hunting them up he found another family named Brandon, husband, wife and three children, who were actually suffering, and took it upon himself to solicit aid for them. He secured new clothing for the children from our clothing dealers, procured fuel, and otherwise provided for their comfort. Without these comforts the first Sunday in the new year would have been one of suffering.

TO BE TRIED AGAIN

The Suit for Damages Against Twin-City Railway.

The suit of T. J. Wilson against the Winston-Salem electric street railway will be tried again at Winston this week. The case was tried several months ago and Mr. Wilson was awarded three thousand dollars damages for the killing of his little son about two years ago.

The railway people appealed to the Supreme court and were awarded a new trial. Col. John S. Wise, of New York, went up to Winston this morning to represent the street railway in the coming trial this week.

Bound Over to Court.

The trial of J. W. Harrison, at Winston, for the killing of Paul Stockton, was ended about six o'clock Saturday evening, and he was bound over to the Superior court in a bond of $5,000, which he readily gave.
